Exploratory Data Analysis

Let's start Exploratory Data Analysis with the help of given activities.

Exploratory Data Analysis (EDA) is the process of analyzing datasets to summarize their main characteristics, often using visual methods. It's typically the first step in data analysis, helping you understand the structure, detect patterns, identify anomalies, and generate hypotheses before applying statistical or machine learning models.